

Women of the Bible

“Moving Forward Together! Women Educating & Inspiring Generations.”

A Live, Online Webinar To Celebrate Women’s Month

Presented by Bible Speaker
Madelon Maupin

GOBSMACKED BY GRACE
A powerful, non-denominational journey into the Scriptures
BIBLE ROADS

Saturday March 15, 2025

10:30 – 11:30AM CST

with a 15 min Q&A

- A dedicated Christian and spiritual thinker.
- Travels worldwide, sharing her love of the Bible and helping audiences understand their spirituality better.
- Started BibleRoads.com in 2012 for spiritual seekers, regardless of their church or non-church backgrounds, to help others unlock the Bible and discover its spiritual meaning and application to their lives.
- Holds a Masters' degree from the San Francisco Theological Seminary
- Provides Bible study resources such as online courses, Biblical video series and talks, workbooks, and audio recordings about Biblical books.
- Published author of over 70 articles on spirituality.

This webinar is free

For more information and to register www.CScookeville.com/celebrate or scan the QR code

We will be talking about women from both the Hebrew Scriptures, the Old Testament, and the New. We will start in order with the matriarchs - women like Sarah, Rebekah and Rachel and their huge contribution to Israel’s earliest years. We’ll move into Women of the Wilderness, such as Deborah, the judge - a remarkable leadership example in the Old Testament. We’ll look at women like Abigail who eventually became a queen when she married David. Eventually we’ll go to the New Testament and talk about all those “Marys” that surrounded Jesus, both during his ministry and at the cross. So we have Mary, the mother of Jesus, Mary Magdalene, Mary of Bethany and others. We want to look deeply at their lives and their ministry of Christian Christ-followers of Jesus. All of this is available for you to not just learn more, but to open the Bible and treasure its stories, and maybe get into it even more than you already are. This is open to all denominations. It is a non-denominational talk although it is sponsored by the Christian Science Society. Please come and invite your friends and we’ll all learn together.